TIPS FROM PENN STATE MASTER GARDENERS

HELLO BEECH MOUNTAIN GARDENERS!

We have been on a rollercoaster ride weather-wise this winter. Record highs followed by record lows have kept us guessing about what's next. Even though we have experienced some almost summer-like weather, we can still expect snow and cold weather. So don't start planting yet!

WINTER CHORES

There is still time to tackle some of those winter gardening chores. March is a good time to prune trees and shrubs. Of course avoid pruning those early blooming shrubs like rhododendron or forsythia. If you have knockout roses they should be pruned back after the last hard frost. Knockouts will grow back vigorously in time for blooming.

If you are not sure of what to prune or how to prune, I recommend that you check a comprehensive pruning guide from the University of Minnesota titled "Pruning Trees and Shrubs." It provides detailed information on how, when, and what to prune. You can find it online at;

<http://www.extension.umn.edu/garden/yard-garden/trees-shrubs/pruning-trees-shrubs/>

SPRING INTO GARDENING

Once again Luzerne County Master Gardeners will be presenting their half day seminar series, SPRING INTO GARDENING. The event will be held from 8:30 AM until 1:00 PM on Saturday, April 30th at Penn State Wilkes-Barre Campus in Lehman. This year SIG will offer seven workshops including the keynote presentation by Paul Epsen, Star of WNEP's Home and Backyard Program.

Paul's topic is "Gardens that have inspired Me,"

A photographic tour of some of Paul's favorite gardens he has visited around the world.

Master Gardeners from Luzerne will be offering six other presentation at SIG including;

Jumping Worms Roseann Nardone, will be explaining the most recently discovered exotic pest in The United States, Asian Jumping Worms. This significant pest is an earthworm that is destroying soil structure in many parts of Luzerne County including right here in Beech Mountain Lakes .

Veggie Gardening Covid 19 has led many home owners to consider growing some of their own vegetables. Sandy Visintainer, will be offering tips and advice for newcomers and experienced gardeners planning to vegetable garden this year

Native Plants in the Home Garden Marietta Garr will discuss the personal and ecological advantages of using native plants in your garden and landscape.

The Spotted Lanternfly is now established in Luzerne County and a few have been reported in Beech Mountain. David Todd will give an update on the Spotted Lanternfly, how to identify it and what to do if you find it around your home or backyard.

Guess Who's Coming to Dinner Beech Mountain Lakes' Dave Orbin will discuss dealing with wildlife in your landscape and garden.

Buzz Pollination, Harold Keiner, will offer information on the cultural and environmental importance of bees as pollinators and the role they play in the success of a garden

A highlight of SIG is the PLANT SALE. A wide selection of perennials and annuals will be available for purchase. Master Gardeners will be available all day to answer your gardening questions. Spring into Gardening will begin at 8:30 AM, and conclude at 1:00 PM. The half-day program costs $25

Registration can be completed on-line at extension.psu.edu/spring-into-gardening
